People
Rachel Andrew
Ravenblack's Perch

   Music
Ani Difranco
Alisha's Attic

   Geek
El Reg
Sluggy Freelance
User Friendly
Think Geek
Kuro5hin

Every OS Sucks

Well hi there
Thank you for downloading another fine quality comedy product from Three dead trolls in a baggie and your friends at mp3.com Good for you
Of course, if you've downloaded this from napster, screw you, you know what, free isn't good enough for you, your gotta rip us of, thats okay, I will find you and I will kill you ha, ha, ha
You see, I come from a time in the nineteen hundred and seventies when computers where used for two things too either go to the moon or play pong and nothing inbetween, you see and You didn't need a fancy operating system to play pong and the men who went to the moon, god bless them did it with no mouse and a plain text only black and white screen and thiry-two kilobytes of ram but then round about the late seventies home computers started to do a little bit more than play pong very little more why computers started to play games and balance check books why, you could play zakon on you apple II or write a book all with a computer that had thirty-two kilobytes of ram It was enough to go to the moon it was enought for you it was a golden time a time before windows a time before mouses a time before the internet and bloatware and a time before every OS sucked ahhh mmm
Well way back in the olden times my computer worked for me I'd laugh and play all night and day on zork one, two and three the amiga, vic 20 and sinclair two, the trs 80 and the apple II they did what they where supposed to do It wasn't much but it was enough but then xerox made a prototype Steve Jobs came on the scene read of mice and menues windows, icons, trash and a bitmapped screen Oh stevie said to xerox boys, turn your heads and cough and when noone was looking he ripped their interfaces off stole every feature that he had seen put it in a cute box with a tiny little screen MacOS ran that machine only cost 5000 bucks but it was slow
it was buggy
so they wrote it again and now they're up to OS ten they'll charge you for the beta, then charge you again but the MacOS still sucks every OS wastes your time from the desktop to the lap every thing since apple dos just a bunch of crap from microsoft and macintosh to lin-ly-lin-ly-nucs evey computer crashes cause ever os sucks well then microsoft jumped in the game copied apples interface with an os named windows three point one it was twice as lame but the stock price rose and rose then windows 95, then 98 man, solitarie never ran so great and every single version came out late but I guess thats the way it go but that bloatware will crash and delete your work and dme man none of them work bill gates may be richer than captain kirk but the windows os blows and sucks

at the same time I'd trade it in, yeah, right for what it's top of the line from the compuhut the fridge, stove and toaster never crash on me I should be able to get online without a Phd my phone doesn't take a week to boot it my tv doesn't crash when I mute it I miss ascii text in my floppy drive I wish vic 20 was still alive It ain't the hardware man it's just that every OS sucks and blows
Now theres lin-ux or ly-nic I don't know how you say it or how you install it or use it or play it or where you download it or what programs run but lin-ux or ly-nic don't look like much fun however you say it it's getting great press though how it survives is anyones guess if you ask me it's a great big mess for elitist nerdy schmucks it's free they say if you can get it to run the geeks say hey, thats half the fun yeah, but I've got a girlfriend and things to get done the linux OS sucks I'm sorry to say it but it does
every os wastes your time
from the desktop to the lap
everything since the abacus, just a bunch of crap from microsfot and macintosh
to lin-ly-lin-ly-nucs
every computer crashes cause evey os sucks
every computer crashes cause evey os sucks